

Revolts Flare As Germany Near Finish

cradle of German militarism, last yesterday, together with the cities of Spandau, and the city districts of Tempelhof, Schöneberg, and Steglitz and Neukölln.

SUN BLACKED OUT

The sun over Berlin is almost blacked out from the dust of thousands of bombs and office buildings bursting upward under the bombing and shelling of the Red Army invaders who have started a bombing raid on the famous Tempelhof airport, and are keeping up a non-stop bombing attack on the last fanatical defenders.

War correspondents describe it as a scene of "almost unbelievable destruction."

And while Berlin reels and rocks under the shattering blows of the Russians, rising on a large scale is reported from Munich, birthplace of Nazism, and scene of the abortive Hitler beer cellar putsch in 1923.

The extent of the revolution is still uncertain, but despite conflicting reports put out by the Nazi Gauleiter in Munich, it is evident that it is still continuing and the rebels are at least in control of the Munich radio station. From first reports and the appeals from the revolutionaries to the American and French armies now converging on Munich, it appears that a general uprising similar to that which convulsed Germany in the last hours of World War One, is in the making.

SEES REVOLT SPREADING

Li-Gen Kurt Dietrich, widely quoted military commentator, who surrendered to the German High Command at Magdeburg on Friday, admits that widespread revolt is imminent.

He declares that the fall of Berlin will see the end of organized resistance in Germany.

"When Berlin falls it will be a few hours," he said, "and only a few hours." "After that there will be no more fighting," he said, "and only a few hours more there will be nothing to hold together the remaining German forces."

He also stated that the so-called Bavarian revolution was a myth, and that it could not be held against the forces of the remaining German army.

American and French troops diving on Munich heard the anti-Nazi broadcast calling on the Allies to "take back the remaining German headquarters at Pullach, six miles south of Munich."

SAID HEADING COUP

The broadcast said that General Hans Ritter von Kueper, governor of Bavaria, was heading the coup. It said he had split with the Nazis and would lead the remaining German forces to freedom.

The revolutionaries styled themselves the "Free Action of Bavaria" and called on the German public and the army to "take back the remaining German forces." They also called on the army to "take back the remaining German forces."

"This is the hour," said one of the revolutionaries, "when the German people will be free. This is the hour when the German people will be free."

TERMED "CRIMINALS"

Later another voice was heard over the radio, claiming to be Paul Guderian, the German general who led the attack on France in 1940. He called the revolutionaries "criminals" and said they were "traitors."

He also said that he was heading a coup and would lead the remaining German forces to freedom.

UNITED CANADIAN ARMY

Units of the Canadian 1st Army converged on the Wilhelmshafen-Rhein coastal area, moving speedily to connect up with the British and Red Army troops there.

THE GERMANS IN THIS pocket are attempting a sea evacuation to Denmark and Norway and fifty-odd units of 250 and 500-man detachments are said to have arrived at Emden in the past few days to open a shuttle evacuation service for their trapped land forces.

To enable this plan to be carried out the Germans are said to be fighting a delaying action along a 30-mile front between Leer, 15 miles south of Emden, and Oldenburg, 24 miles south of Wilhelmshafen. Both German and Canadian troops are reported on their way to the front.

CLOSING ON MUNICH

In the south Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army is closing on Munich from the north, after capturing Regensburg, and is now on the verge of linking up for a final assault on Hitler's last-ditch city.

Coming on the heels of the American-Bavarian junction in the south, the Canadian 1st Army is also closing on Munich from the north, after capturing Regensburg, and is now on the verge of linking up for a final assault on Hitler's last-ditch city.

Patton's troops here in the south are said to be fighting a delaying action along a 30-mile front between Leer, 15 miles south of Emden, and Oldenburg, 24 miles south of Wilhelmshafen. Both German and Canadian troops are reported on their way to the front.

plainly beating Hitler's Reich to its knees.

On the American 1st and 9th Army fronts southeast and west of Berlin, where two, and perhaps three, junctions with the Russians have been made, activity was mainly confined to rounding up the thousands of German troops clamoring to escape the Red Army and to be taken into Allied prisoner cages.

The U.S. 7th and French 1st Armies are now nearing Munich, and the 3rd Army units in that area are rounding up the thousands of German troops clamoring to escape the Red Army and to be taken into Allied prisoner cages.

An estimated 50,000 crack Nazi troops surrendered in that area yesterday as the survivors of the German army in the north and east tried to hold the ramparts of his Alpine retreat were scattering in a half-dazed confusion toward the mountain passes south and southeast of Munich.

The ancient Roman stronghold of Augsburg, 80 miles northwest of Munich, was captured by the Allies today after a brief street battle. Patton's troops on the Seventh Army's left flank are now pushing across the Danube on a broad front and west of Regensburg — the cradle of the Nazi movement.

With that city firmly in their hands, the Third Army troops raced more than 100 miles southward in a half-dazed confusion toward the mountain passes south and southeast of Munich.

All organized resistance appeared to have broken in that area, and it seemed likely that they would be in the hands of the Allies by the end of the week.

RACE SOUTHWARD

With that city firmly in their hands, the Third Army troops raced more than 100 miles southward in a half-dazed confusion toward the mountain passes south and southeast of Munich.

Meantime spectacular Allied advances on all fronts are continuing against more and more desperate resistance. New pockets are being formed in the north, south and east, and thousands of prisoners are being taken.

All possibility of reinforcing the troops still in Germany by bringing in units from the German army is said to have been abandoned. The Allies are now concentrating on the task of rounding up the remaining German forces.

ROKOSSEVICH advanced 13 miles while Russian bombers blasted the city of Berlin. The Allies are now concentrating on the task of rounding up the remaining German forces.

On every sector of the Allied front reports were all of advances and German retreats, and the last hours of the German Reich appear to be in sight. Dramatic news may come over the radio in the next few days.

Complete Russian occupation of the German capital is said to be a matter of hours. The Allies are now concentrating on the task of rounding up the remaining German forces.

Canada Given Executive Seat At Conference

The foreign secretary of the Big Four sponsors take turns presiding at general sessions of the conference and must periodically work out a program.

2. State Secretary Stettinius takes the helm of the steering and executive committees—these are the conference agencies which do the real work, which formulate the policies and make recommendations to the conference.

14 ON COMMITTEE

The steering committee decided to put 14 members on the executive committee—three more than the 11 originally contemplated.

Besides Canada the other countries are Britain, Australia, the United States, Russia, China, Brazil, Chile, Czechoslovakia, France, Iran, Mexico, Holland and Yugoslavia.

The fight to expand the committee pointed to the likelihood of another to add members also to a proposed security council which would be the heart of the world peace-keeping organization.

The provision for a security council is the archstone of the Dumbarton Oaks plan, the basic formula from which the conference will proceed toward creation of an international organization.

AMENDMENTS NEXT WEEK

Amendments to Dumbarton Oaks, the steering committee decided, will not be considered until next Wednesday.

Canada seemed assured from the start of a place on the executive committee, which will direct the deliberations leading toward creation of an instrument for maintaining world peace. Many delegations think this committee will provide the membership of the first security council.

New Zealand and China were credited with leading parts in bringing about acceptance of the plan to rotate the steering chairmanship among the four big powers and given the important posts of head of the steering committee and executive committees to Mr. Stettinius.

Stettinius yesterday had declined to accept Mr. Stettinius either as conference or steering committee chairman.

WITHDREW AMENDMENT

Foreign Secretary Eden offered a four-point plan:

1. Chairmanship of the full dress plenary sessions would be rotated among the sponsoring powers.
2. This delegation chairman would preside in alphabetical order, thus giving China's T. V. Soong chairmanship of the first organized session.
3. These four chairmen would meet periodically under the chair-said, "of assimilating the Canadians of French descent to the citizens of the province of Quebec and of reducing our ways of acting and thinking to one standard."

Speaking in French over a Montreal and a Quebec station, the former minister of public works in the federal government and now in the province, said he was to get together, and join forces by imitating the willingness to cooperate with one another as it is to be found in other provinces, so as to assure that in the grave days which lie right in our path, the province of Quebec will not be treated like a poor relation on the great council of the nation."

The confederation party, he said, "grants to all provinces the same autonomy and the same advantages. Unanimous in principle, there must be a regrettable inequality. We are not masters of our own destiny in our own house; and in the great council of the nation our voice is to be heard only in periods of calm, of peace, and indeed in times when things are easy-going. As soon as trouble springs up, we no longer count."

TIME TO ASSERT

Mr. Cardin thought that "the time has come to assert ourselves and the present opportunity is unique. It is far from my thoughts to run counter to the sentiments and opinions of English-speaking fellow-citizens throughout the country," he added. "Those who fear a reaction do not understand Canadians of the English language. It is an insult to them to suppose that they can be offended when we demand equality, and when we are desirous of assimilating those who so well know how to unite."

Mr. Cardin recalled that he had resigned from the government over the conscription issue in 1942, and added that "I did not return to the storm blow over and then later to return to the ranks I had left."

"I proposed that the Mobilization Act should be suspended when everybody was complaining about the security of manpower. I thought the delay in redistribution of the military forces was a hindrance to the defense of the country. I was not a man of a free man, one who respects the given word and is desirous of expressing what he believes to be the opinion of his fellow-citizens."

OPPOSITION OF 1914-18

Recalling the opposition of Quebec to conscription in the First World War "when Sir Wilfrid Laurier decided the destiny of the Great War," he said the protest of Quebec representatives against conscription in this was not so complete "because several of our people gave their consent and approved the order-in-council."

He said Prime Minister Mackenzie King "imposed conscription without considering Quebec opinion" because he was "desirous of asserting his authority."

out of appealing the political agitation in certain provinces" and asked, "What serious difference does there remain today between the party in office at Ottawa and those who have fought us for 25 years? None. The present government has put into practice all the theories and all the principles which it had condemned in its opponents."

forces who would be returning to civilian life after the war.

Donald MacPherson seconded the nomination.

He said that at present he was unable to say more, because of restrictions placed on press coverage of the forces, but when he had been given leave of absence to campaign through the city he would outline in full his viewpoint on the rehabilitation of the war-women of the active who were now serving in the different branches of the armed forces.

BORN IN SCOTLAND

Mr. Jamieson was born in Edinburgh in 1902 and came to Edmonton in 1913. He is educated at the Edinburgh public school, and Coalbrookdale mining college.

He is married and has three sons and two daughters. One son, Victor, is a captain at headquarters, 21st Army Group overseas. His son, Henry, is a leading flier in the RCNVR overseas, and his youngest boy, Ian, is attending school and is a member of the Air Cadet Corps.

He is a contractor, and has been in the city for a considerable number of years.

At the last war he saw action in France and Belgium and was awarded the Médaille D'Honneur and the Croix de Guerre.

FUSILIERS COMMANDER

In the present war he was appointed to command the 2nd Reserve Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers in 1940, and in 1941 was appointed to the command of the 3rd Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers. Active in 1943.

He is at present administrative officer at A-16 Canadian Infantry Training Centre, Currie Barracks, Canada, British Columbia.

The meeting, in the absence of Ad. Fred J. Mitchell, president of the association, was presided over by the chairmanship of W. Ogden.

OUTLINES POLICY

The Progressive Conservative party's policy with regard to labor included mandatory collective bargaining, representation of workers by labor with management on all boards or agencies affecting labor, and a system of labor relations dominated by employers, and recognition of the right of workers should receive the same pay as men for work of equal value. A. L. Smith, M.C. Calgary, told delegates at the Edmonton East Progressive Conservative Association's convention Friday at St. Albert's Parish Hall.

Mr. Smith, who is the Progressive Conservative Party's candidate in the Calgary West riding, said that the party's platform labor was written in the simplest of language. There was no taking the straight forwardness of the language used in that platform. There can be no misunderstanding of the intent of the party's policy.

Mr. Smith said that in 1917 he left the Liberal party on the manpower issue, and campaigned for a national service act at that time. In 1939 he advocated again when it was there should be no one policy, the conscription of all resources and manpower to win that war.

In the first day of the Eighth Victory Loan this city brought home to the value of $154,500 as a result of 419 applications. The amount represents 24 per cent of the quota. On the last day of the last loan there were 134 applications with sales aggregating $51,750. The province as a whole registered the largest spending day's sale of any Victory Loan to date, with the total reaching $4,664,700. The minimum quota for the province is $15,000,000. Of this the Alberta share is $47,500,000, and the city share $6,250,000, or an increase of $850,000 over last year.

Permission has been granted by the city council for the Canadian Japanese to take up temporary residence here in order to attend summer school at the University of Alberta, or city vocational schools. Permission was granted on their behalf by city commissioners who have obtained suitable buildings, and who will have the city on completion of their courses, and give an undertaking they will not become community charges.

The summer holiday in Alberta has been set from July 8 to Sept. 10, according to Hon. R. L. Nelson, M.C. Prince Albert. The summer holiday in the province will be about 122,000 persons attending Public and Separate schools. It is likely that next year there will be a further increase in the number of students.

King Says All Power Not Held By Small Group time and place on specific questions as they arise," he said.

NOT SEEKING PRESTIGE

Canada was not thinking of national pride and prestige but was hoping to play whatever part it could for the development of the best kind of an organization agreement for collective effort to maintain peace.

"We recognize the principle that power and responsibility go hand-in-hand and that international security depends primarily upon maintenance of an overwhelming preponderance on the side of peace."

But that power, said Mr. King, was to be found in all the nations that desired peace, each contributing what it could.

"The end we seek to serve transcends the limits of race and the bounds of nationality," he continued. "It is ours to give to a grateful humanity a hope of which it is in greater need today than it has ever been before."

Mr. King said the people of Canada were resolved to do whatever was in their power to ensure that the world would not be engulfed for a third time "by a tidal wave of savagery and despotism."

He continued: "That is why the delegation from Canada received from parliament a mandate to use its best endeavors at this conference to further an agreement to establish a world security organization."

WILL DO ALL IN POWER

"The spirit in which we approach the great task of the conference will determine the measure of its success. It is for each nation to remember that over all nations is humanity. It is for all to remember that justice is the common concern of mankind."

Mr. King also said: "In the past the sacrifice of human life in war has been commemorated in monuments of stone or bronze. The only friend and so good a neighbor as President Roosevelt."

"If the spirit of Franklin Roosevelt pervades the deliberations of this conference, its success will be assured."

"The highest tribute which we, of the United Nations, can pay to his memory is, by our united efforts, to build a world organization which will express his life's aims and his life's ideal—a system of international co-operation which will banish from the world the threat of war, and the fear of war."

"I can express to those who have come to this conference from other lands no higher hope for the future of mankind than that, out of the instrument we are now fashioning, there may develop relations among all nations similar to those which, for generations, have been a common possession of Canada and the United States."

Mr. King said the "measure of the unanimity of our country is to be found in its delegation to this conference."

REPRESENTS ALL

"The delegates were selected while our parliament was in session. They were chosen from both houses, and from both sides of each house. They represent all important shades of opinion in Canada."

Francis M. Ford, Australia's army minister, said he opposed a "too rigid constitutional form" for the forthcoming peace organization.

Proposing amendments to reinforce his point, he said: "The Dumbarton Oaks plan as it stands bears many characteristics of a mere prolongation into the years of peace of a type of great power leadership that has been found necessary to win the war."

Mr. Ford made a bid for Australian representation on a security council said to wield the major power for peace.

Paul Henri Spaak, foreign minister of Belgium, urged the consideration of smaller countries a role more vital than assigned them under the Dumbarton Oaks proposals.

ALL SHOULD CO-OPERATE

While it may be true, said Mr. Spaak, that world security can be guaranteed by large powers, experience has shown the best way of reaching this objective is through the co-operation of all countries.

Victor Andrade, Bolivia's foreign minister, said: "In the community of nations the possession of power and strength imposes upon the powerful, obligations and duties the neglect of which would bring immediate damage upon the smaller nations, and would in the end bring ruin or threat of ruin upon the in the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain and Russia.

"Heinrich Himmler has sent a message in which he guarantees the unconditional surrender of Germany to the United States and Great Britain. The governments of the United States and Great Britain have replied that unconditional surrender will only be accepted if the offer is addressed to all the Allies."

Soon after the Luxembourg broadcast, No. 10 Downing St., official residence of the Prime Minister, issued the formal statement on the report.

REPORT NOT DENIED

Nowhere did the statement say that the report was false. The implication appeared that it might be true. The statement said only that the government had no information to give about it.

It concluded with a reiteration of the oft-expressed Allied policy: "It must be emphasized that only unconditional surrender—to the three major powers will be entertained, and that the clearest accord prevails between the three powers."

Thus was renewed implicitly the warning to the remnants of Germany that there was no need to try the old dodge of playing the Anglo-Americans against the Russians.

In the past Himmler has been reputed to feel that Germany should make a deal with Russia, whereas the other Nazi leaders favored the Russian powers.

Himmler himself has faded away in the fog shrouding the twilight of Nazism. He has been rumored dead on several occasions recently. It was impossible to ascertain how he might have made the reported offer to the Allies.

ATTEMPT TO SPLIT BIG THREE IS SEEN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—(Reuters)—It has been authoritatively learned here that a message from Goebbels Chief Heinrich Himmler has been received by the British and United States governments "guaranteeing" German unconditional surrender to the Western Allies but not to Russia.

This report is based on information relayed said to have reached Foreign Secretary Eden and State Secretary Acheson in London.

The move is regarded here as a last-minute attempt to split the unity of the big three. It is understood to have the backing of the German high command, but not that of Hitler and the section of the Nazi hierarchy that has remained loyal to him.

HIMMLER IN FAVOR

Himmler is authoritatively stated to have informed the Western Allies that he is in a position to arrange the unconditional surrender and that he himself is in favor of it.

It is understood that Britain and the United States have informed those who delivered the message they will accept an unconditional surrender only on behalf of all the Allies.

Tests Reveal Necessity For Auto Brake Check Campaign

City Policemen Discover Large Percentage of Cars Liable to Cause Accidents

Forty-five of 108 cars checked by city policemen during the first week of the current brake test campaign failed to pass the check, according to Sgt. A. B. Woodward, head of the city police traffic department.

The campaign is being waged in an effort to cut down on the number of accidents and to conserve the nation's dwindling supply of cars. The success of the campaign is being measured on the basis of the number of accidents and the number of cars checked by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Results of each week's tests are sent to national headquarters of the association at Toronto, Ont. Woodward said that during 1944 there were 903 traffic accidents in Edmonton. As a result of these accidents, seven persons were killed and 165 more received injuries.

Accidents in Edmonton since Jan. 1, 1945, have numbered 63, resulting in 10 deaths and 15 persons injured.

SIMPLE TEST
The simple test, which takes less than 60 seconds, is not an assurance that brakes are good, but it does reveal faulty brakes. Car owners are urged to cooperate with the police in their safety drive by having the brakes of their cars checked by a policeman.

The test being used in the campaign consists of placing a one-inch block of wood under the brake pedal. The officer conducting the check drives the car and depresses the brake pedal. If it goes to within one inch of the floorboard before the car begins to stop, the brakes are faulty and need immediate attention.

The average car requires about 120 pounds of pedal pressure to stop the brakes. A car with faulty brakes requires less than 100 pounds of pedal pressure to stop the brakes. If the brake pedal depresses to within one inch of the floorboard before the car begins to stop, it can only build up about 50 pounds of pressure and require 60 feet in which to stop when traveling at 20 miles an hour.

WORST OFFENDERS
Increasingly, for faulty brakes will increase some of the worst offenders but all motorists are asked to cooperate in voluntarily having their brakes checked and repaired if necessary.

Today's cars are almost twice as old as in pre-war times and more susceptible to breakdown. Passenger cars are disappearing from the highways at the rate of 4800 a day and the number of cars in the hands of essential owners is getting dangerously low.

Don't take unnecessary chances. Get your brakes checked without delay.

Police Prepare List of Don'ts For "Bike" Riders

1. Don't ride on the wrong side of the road. This is the most frequent cause of accidents.

2. Don't ride without proper lights. Bicycles must have a head lamp and a tail light or reflector.

3. Don't doze between cars in moving traffic but remain in the line of traffic.

4. Don't ignore stop signs or traffic lights. The same rules apply for cyclists as for motorists.

5. Ride no more than two abreast.

6. Don't hang on to trucks, street cars or cars.

7. Don't ride on sidewalks.

Best of Remaining Wehrmacht's Men In Alpine Redoubt

ON THE GERMAN-SWISS FRONTIER, April 28.—(AP)—German chief Heinrich Himmler, commander of the southern German "Wehrmacht," has ordered the best of the Wehrmacht's surviving soldiers and a heavy stock of armaments, reliable reports reaching here said. Himmler expects to have at least 30 divisions—some 300,000 in all—ready in the Alpine area, the reports said.

HERE ARE CAUSES OF ACCIDENTS—Most accidents in traffic are caused by one of the following: 1. Careless driving. 2. Faulty brakes. 3. Faulty steering. 4. Faulty tires. 5. Faulty lights. 6. Faulty horns. 7. Faulty mirrors. 8. Faulty windshield wipers. 9. Faulty seat belts. 10. Faulty doors. 11. Faulty windows. 12. Faulty locks. 13. Faulty hinges. 14. Faulty bolts. 15. Faulty nuts. 16. Faulty washers. 17. Faulty spacers. 18. Faulty sleeves. 19. Faulty flanges. 20. Faulty gaskets. 21. Faulty seals. 22. Faulty O-rings. 23. Faulty diaphragms. 24. Faulty bellows. 25. Faulty membranes. 26. Faulty liners. 27. Faulty covers. 28. Faulty caps. 29. Faulty plugs. 30. Faulty pins. 31. Faulty rivets. 32. Faulty screws. 33. Faulty bolts. 34. Faulty nuts. 35. Faulty washers. 36. Faulty spacers. 37. Faulty sleeves. 38. Faulty flanges. 39. Faulty gaskets. 40. Faulty seals. 41. Faulty O-rings. 42. Faulty diaphragms. 43. Faulty bellows. 44. Faulty membranes. 45. Faulty liners. 46. Faulty covers. 47. Faulty caps. 48. Faulty plugs. 49. Faulty pins. 50. Faulty rivets. 51. Faulty screws. 52. Faulty bolts. 53. Faulty nuts. 54. Faulty washers. 55. Faulty spacers. 56. Faulty sleeves. 57. Faulty flanges. 58. Faulty gaskets. 59. Faulty seals. 60. Faulty O-rings. 61. Faulty diaphragms. 62. Faulty bellows. 63. Victory Garden Care Is Easy if Planned Right

After the ground has been spaded and mixed smooth, no hand tools would be required in caring for a Victory garden than is demanded of a housewife. Once the plan is up, the principal task is to keep down weeds, and this can be easily done by hoeing. There is no need for a hoe or cultivator in loose sandy soil, a rake or tined cultivator will do the stirring in heavier soil. A hoe may be necessary. Sharp tines do the work better with less exertion. A file should be part of the equipment of every gardener, and the use of a file will do the job of a hoe in the corners and sharp edges. Modern practice requires that cultivation should be shallow, and the soil should be pushed down the aisle between two rows as quickly and with as little exertion as a expert weaver will drop his loom. Weeds and weeds will grow in the gaps between the rows, and the soil should be pushed down the aisle between two rows as quickly and with as little exertion as a expert weaver will drop his loom.

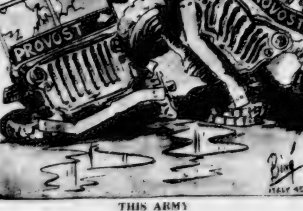

Keep a File and Use It Often

Onion Races With Radish To Harvest

The first crops harvested from the Victory gardens are onion and radishes. Three weeks after the garden has been spaded and the onion sets and radish seeds sown, they should produce a bumper crop. The onion sets should be sown in rows, and the radish seeds should be sown in rows. The onion sets should be sown in rows, and the radish seeds should be sown in rows.

In Three Weeks From Planting, the First Crop Should Be Ready

Seed Disinfectants Cut Loss In Early Sowings

Seeds and infant plants (seedlings) are often attacked by mould or fungi which destroy them. This is most likely to occur when conditions are unfavorable, and they become either too wet, cold or warm for germination and healthy growth. Seeds started indoors, or early in the spring before the ground warms up, are much more likely to be attacked than those sown in warm, sunny weather. There are said to be 500 different organisms which may be present in soil, or on the seeds, like bacteria in the human system, waiting favorable conditions to develop. One way to protect your sowing from these attacks is to disinfect the seeds, with one of a number of disinfectants which have been proved to be effective. This procedure is especially worth while when you are trying to get an extra early start, either by sowing indoors, or in cold weather outside. There is no danger to the seed in using these materials provided the simple directions furnished with them are followed, precisely. Never use any disinfectant in greater strength than recommended, it is irremediably what a small amount will do. For example, in using disinfectant as a dry powder, the quantity which can be lifted on the back of a teaspoon is sufficient to coat and protect the seed in a standard-size packet. Tear a corner of the packet, insert the dust

Annual Drive to Improve City's General Appearance Draws Widespread Support

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
I cleaned up my yard,
Why don't you, too?"

The aesthetic and peace emotions of almost anyone are apt to be touched at the sight of a well-kept and properly arranged home and lot.

Such emotions are expected to be apparent on all sides during the coming week, and after members of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce on Monday inaugurate their campaign to make localities more aware of the latent values that lie at the doorstep of home and property at the confines of the Gateway to the North.

Peers have been written about the joys of happy homes. Millions have delivered milk to neat, well-kept houses. People who go out for walks like to walk near tidy dwellings. And citizens with the welfare of Edmonton in their hearts, are apt to be desirous of keeping the city's residential sections up to a high standard.

With all this in mind, citizens are asked to get busy with a rake and remove the winter's rubbish from their lawns and yards. The Junior Chamber of Commerce points out that very little expense is involved in getting the average house into shape for the coming summer. Nearly every household would like to have a neat, clean yard, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce is doing its best to help them. It is asking for a final touch, based on a coat of paint or two, to make a simple frame house the type of a little effort and maybe a quarter to help clean up. Just this. No elaborate assistance is required.

A pot of paint with a sturdy brush will clean the old wooden fences, window sills and doors, porches and eaves. A can of white paint will clean up the old wooden fences, window sills and doors, porches and eaves. A can of white paint will clean up the old wooden fences, window sills and doors, porches and eaves.

ANNUAL CAMPAIGN

This annual campaign on the part of the Junior Chamber has the distinction of being one of the leading cities. The City Council takes the idea because it is considered desirable to be a city councillor when your city is a cleanlooking one.

Mayor Supports Clean-Up Drive

R. W. Hamilton, deputy mayor, has expressed his approval of the annual beautification campaign and pledged the support of the citizens of the city in making the forthcoming week a success.

The city beautification campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is depending on the unhesitating support of every household in the city.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

1. The first step in the process of seed production is the selection of parent plants. This is done by choosing plants that have the desired characteristics, such as high yield, good quality, and resistance to disease and pests.

"TOO MUCHIE"

THE Teenie Weenies would never take on the responsibility of hatching and raising another chicken. Upon that the little people were all agreed. Of course, the young chicken kept the Teenie Weenie village free of bugs and worms, but that wasn't enough food to satisfy its mighty appetite. It ate everything in sight and the little people had to guard every morsel of the food they expected to eat, for the chicken would, as likely as not, pop its head through the kitchen door, or through a window, and grab victuals right off the Teenie Weenie table. It couldn't be kept out of the Teenie Weenie garden, and the little folk went to considerable trouble to build a fence around their vegetables. Within a week after the fence had been built, the chicken was big enough to hop over and gobble up a number of their early plants. The Teenie Weenies forgave the chicken, but a few days later it did something that the Chinaman said was "muchie too muchie to forgive."

One pleasant morning, the Chinaman, Gogo and the Dunce decided to go fishing in the creek. Of course, they would have to capture a fish worm, for that is considered the best bait. It takes a lot of hard work for such little men as the Teenie Weenies to unearth a fish worm, because it means much digging and shoveling with their tiny tools. The three little chaps dug all morning before they uncovered a worm. They found one after they had dug down fully three inches into the ground. They uncovered one end of the worm.

Then, while Gogo and the Dunce held it, the Chinaman frantically dug and shoveled the earth away from the other end of its squirming body. When they finally managed to pull the worm from the ground, they were so tired from the effort they all threw themselves onto the soft moss to rest.

While the three Teenie Weenies rested, the chicken strolled by looking for food as usual. It immediately spied the worm, and before any of the little men could stop it, the chicken picked up the worm and ran off. Around the Teenie Weenie village it raced with the three Teenie Weenies chasing it.

The Chinaman was very angry, and he managed to get close enough to give the chicken a couple of smacks with a Teenie Weenie shovel. The long-legged chicken was able to outrun the Teenie Weenies, but the little men did manage to chase it quite a distance from the Teenie Weenie village. To the great relief of the little folk, it hasn't been seen since.
